

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Disclosed herein is printing paper containing a center portion having a curved edge connecting adjacent sides to each other at four corners and outside
5 portions connected to the center portion at at least one straight line portion of said sides, wherein the center portion and the outside portions are connected to each other through a structure by which the printing paper can be cut.